Creative Connections: Putting Things Together in Unusual Ways to Encourage Creativity

One of the most rewarding experiences in our field is being able to stand back, take a breath and observe children engaged in productive play. The research shows it's the best way for them to learn and it provides us with the enthusiasm to keep going. Dinosaur table hockey, frozen hands in the water table. "LOOK NO HANS" easel painting, and the coffee ground swamp are just a few of the weird yet stimulating ideas we'll explore.

Date: Tuesday, May 30

Time: 6:30PM— 8:30PM

Location: CCRC, 130 Bishop Allen Drive, Cambridge

Presenter: Karen Tally, M.Ed.

EEC Credit: 2 hours

Fee: $35

Slap on the Paint!

Did you know that creative art activities can foster brain development? Join us for a hands-on workshop that will make new pathways in your own brain while you learn how to take advantage of the window of opportunity for "wiring" the brains of all children using art and music! Explore your creativity and bring back the joy of creating your own program. Find out how to offer creative, open-ended art activities and learn why they are so important in the lives of our children.

Date: Monday, June 5

Time: 6:30PM— 8:30PM

Location: CCRC, 130 Bishop Allen Drive, Cambridge

Presenter: Kathy Roos, Consultant (and former Family Child Care Provider)

EEC Credit: 2 hours

Fee: $30

Participants needs to pay a $5.00 dollar fee for this workshop to cover for supplies payable to the instructor. (Please bring to class)

Understanding and helping children with behavioral challenges

Come join us and discuss strategies to work with children with behavioral challenges. This workshop will help teachers and parents learn new skills that will help you work together with the children towards a mutually satisfactory solution to the problems causing the conflict.

Date: Thursday, June 8

Time: 6:30PM— 8:30PM

Location: CCRC, 130 Bishop Allen Drive, Cambridge

Presenter: Rita Rzezuski

Rethinking Outdoor Time: Outdoor Environments That Expand the Mind and Body

Often outdoor time is considered a “break” from more concentrated indoor play. In such cases, we can miss an opportunity for enhancing our programs. This workshop will explore creative ways of making outside time more stimulating with inexpensive materials and ideas.

Date: Wednesday, June 21

Time: 6:30PM— 8:30PM

Location: CCRC, 130 Bishop Allen Drive, Cambridge

Presenter: Karen Tally, M.Ed.

EEC Credit: 2 hours

Fee: $35

Orientation For New Family Child Care Providers: Establishing A Successful Family Child Care Home

This basic orientation for new providers and their approved assistants is required by the Dept of Early Education & Care (EEC) for Family Child Care licensing.
